

RealPage Leave of Absence

How to Apply for Leave of Absence

Please contact Unum to apply for FMLA, Parental Leave and/or Short Term Disability (STD) by visiting portal.unum.com or by calling 1-866-868-6737. Have your physician's name, phone number, and fax number available. Be sure to stay in contact with Unum during your leave and update them of any changes to your status. Unum MUST be contacted when you officially start your leave to activate your claim.

FMLA

FMLA entitles eligible employees to take unpaid, job and benefit-protected leave for specified family and medical reasons. Eligible employees are entitled to twelve work weeks of leave in a rolling 12-month period for:

- The birth of a child or placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care,
- The care for a child, spouse, or parent who has a serious health condition,
- A serious health condition that makes the employee unable to work, and
- Reasons related to a family member's service in the military, including
 - Qualifying exigency leave – leave for certain reasons related to a family member's foreign deployment, and
 - Military caregiver leave – leave when a family member is a current servicemember or recent veteran with a serious injury or illness.

All time off for the reasons listed above must be certified by our third-party administrator, Unum. It is your responsibility to ensure Unum gets the certification required to approve the claim.*

Short Term Disability

Short Term Disability (STD) provides you with 60% of your salary if your leave of absence is related to your own personal medical needs. If you are applying for maternity leave, the benefit is equal to 100% of your salary.

The first week of medical leave is paid via RealPage payroll with available PTO/unused sick time up to state requirements. Once your disability claim has been approved by Unum, STD benefits will begin on the 8th day of your leave (or upon exhaustion of required state paid sick time). Weekly disability checks from Unum will be sent to your home address on file unless you enroll in Direct Deposit through Unum.

 CA, MA, NJ, NY, CT, RI, DC, CO, OR and WA employees- a portion of paid leave benefits are paid by the state. Please log onto your corresponding state family/medical leave website to start your state claim.*

Massachusetts/New York: Contact Unum to coordinate your leave.

New Jersey Residents: Contact Unum to coordinate your disability claim. Family leave claims should be started at <https://nj.gov/labor/myleavebenefits/>.

Short Term Disability Tax Withholdings

Disability benefits are currently considered taxable income for Social Security (FICA) Tax, Federal Income Tax (FIT) and, in some cases, State Tax purposes. FICA taxes are mandatory and are automatically deducted from disability income benefits issued during the 6 calendar months immediately following the month in which you last worked. The tax regulations require withholding of FIT at 25% of the taxable portion of your benefit. This FIT deduction is reflected in your benefit check. To change the FIT percentage withholding for your STD benefits, notify your STD Claim Representative with Unum.

Paid Time Off

40 hours of PTO/unused sick time up to state requirements will be applied to your first week of medical leave if you have the hours available. First week of maternity leave is paid at 100% directly through Unum.*

Benefit Premiums

While you are out on leave of absence, RealPage will continue to pay the employee and employer portion of your benefit premiums. Upon return, missed premiums will be collected by doubling deductions until you are caught up.
